From Marabu you will need...

- Marabu-3D-Liner in rose pink (633)
- Marabu-paint tip, 0.5 mm

...you will also need:

- Clay eggs in different sizes
- Pencil

Here's how it's done:

1. Clean the eggs before painting.
Draw your chosen design using a soft pencil.
Experienced artists only need to mark a line in the middle with a pencil.
2. Screw the paint tip onto the 3D-Liner and go over the outlines of the motif thoroughly.
3. Allow the paints to dry for at least 6 hours.
Afterwards puff up the paint in a pre-heated oven at 150°C. The paint is puffed up when it appears matt and three-dimensional.
This depends on paint application or size of egg and can take from approx. 3 to 10 min.
When the designs have puffed up, take the eggs out of the oven using an oven glove and let them cool down.
